PRAYER TO SAINT JOHN HENRY NEWMAN Almighty and eternal God, we offer heartfelt thanks and praise for the life and witness of Saint John Henry Newman. PRAYER TO ST. MICHAEL THE ARCHANGEL St. Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle, be our protection against the wickedness and snares of the devil. THE DEEP END – Ascension of the Lord

In the first reading today, we hear the words: ‘Men of Galilee why do you stand looking up towards heaven?’ If we only look skywards for Christ, we lose sight of the reality of His presence around us, in each and every person, in each created thing. This week, Catholic communities have been encouraged to celebrate Laudato Si’ week to mark the fifth anniversary since the publication of Pope Francis’ document on Care for Our Common Home. Parishes around the world have (hopefully) engaged in this celebration by looking at their relationship with God’s creation, praying for our world and what we can do to protect it. In Laudato Si’ we read, ‘What [Christians] need is an ‘ecological conversion,’ whereby the effects of their encounter with Jesus Christ become evident in their relationship with the world around them’ (LS 217). This conversion calls for a number of attitudes, including gratitude, ‘a recognition that the world is God’s loving gift, and the we are called quietly to imitate his generosity in good works... it entails a loving awareness that we are not disconnected from creatures but joined in a splendid universal communion... each creature reflects something of God.’ (LS 220-221)

As we celebrate Ascension Sunday, we are reminded by Christ that we are carrying on his message of love to the world and that He is with us always. Christ is not one who has abandoned the world but rather one who is in this world, in all of creation. Like the disciples, committed to a cause, we are carriers of this message into the world, and this includes the message to care more deeply for the earth, our home, which we all share.
